Key Digital Will Host CEDIA University Event in March 2007

Mount Vernon, NY, February 28, 2007 ---- Key Digital Systems, Inc. (KDS) announces that it will host CEDIA University's CU on the Road from March 21 through March 24, 2007. This educational event will be conducted at Key Digital's Home Theater Institute in Mount Vernon, New York

As the SME (Subject Matter Expert) for Video Technology for CEDIA University, Key Digital and CEDIA have an ongoing relationship that involves education and training. During 2006, Key Digital worked with CEDIA to create three new video technology courses covering the core information that CEDIA designers need to know to perform their work at a high level of competence. Key Digital also uses its staff of four CEDIA certified instructors to bring life to these video technology courses with their complete understanding of video and how to use it in both the home and in commercial installations.

During 2007, CEDIA University will be featured at Key Digital's Home Theater Institute from March 21 through March 24 2007. Courses from virtually all parts of the CEDIA curriculum will be featured. ESD – Electronic Systems Designer, EST – Electronic Systems Technician ---- Workshops, Seminars, Core Curriculum, CEDIA Professional Certification and Key Digital Product Training.

Key Digital has contracted with a special hotel rate at the Radisson Hotel New Rochelle,
One Radisson Plaza, New Rochelle, NY 10801

Telephone: 914-576-3700 and mention Key Digital for a rate of only $119 per night.

To learn the latest in Video Processing, HDMI, DVI, Video Switching and Distribution, all interested video technologists should come to this special Key Digital/CEDIA University on the Road event.
